Board of Education

The Board of Education is elected by the people to represent them in matters concerning the administration of the city's schools. All appropriations for books, athletic equipment, or special educational aids must be reviewed and approved by the board. Mr. Norman Bischoff and Mr. Gordon Deye were re-elected to head the board as president and vice-president, respectively.

Mr. Frank Dick has been superintendent of the Sylvania schools for six years. The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Sylvania elected him as "Sylvania's Outstanding Young Man of 1962." He works on projects to benefit the school and is in attendance at all school board meetings. Hiring new teachers for the school system comes under his control.

Mr. Franklin Laman has been principal of the Sylvania High School for its two years, and, previous to that, was principal of Burnham High for six. He handles all business matters that concern the school and the relationships between the school and the community. In his spare time he enjoys reading and in the summer months he plays golf.

Mr. Robert Heiman is the first assistant principal of the Sylvania school system. Of the many matters that keep him busy are attendance records, scheduling activities, weekly bulletins, registering new students, and discipline problems.

Home economics and industrial art

The home economics department offers courses in sewing, cooking, and child care.

In the sewing class, students make clothes of their own option, gradually working their way up to coats or formals.

Serving at school banquets is part of the course offered in cooking. During the Christmas season, festive foods are prepared.

A complete course is offered in child care, covering the period from the time the child is born until he is about four years old. Nurses are invited to demonstrate how to bathe, feed, and care for a baby.

After twelve years of education,

Officers

"We came to learn; we leave to succeed." Some of us will be happy, in a sad sort of way, to complete twelve years of school. Others may be somewhat downcast. We went to Burnham as eighth-graders, elated because we were in the high school and still feeling insecure with all those "big kids." Our class that year was led by Terry Schuette. When we were freshmen we were at last considered genuine high-schoolers. Our president again was Mr. Schuette. We had the "Freshman Frolic," our first class party. The sophomore year passed quickly even with biology, Caesar, and El Camino Real. The big thrill of our junior year was moving into the new Sylvania High School and receiving our class rings. Bette Burow was elected president. The junior prom, "Snowy Silhouettes," was highlighted with the crowning of the queen, Cherie Moore. This year has been the greatest. Reigning as homecoming queen was Miss Bette Burow. We will always remember our senior prom at Sunningdale Country Club. At last, as seniors, we led instead of having followed. And now we are leaving, saying, "Good Luck to all succeeding classes."

Chosen in May of 1961 to lead our class through the senior year are Cherry Thompson, secretary, and Bette Burow, president, shown standing; Mark Prichard, vice-president, and Cheryl Matheny, treasurer, are sitting.

Class of 1963

The junior year is one of anticipation. It means that in only a short time the juniors will be ranking on top. This is a time of class rings in the fall, a glittery prom in the winter, and a party in the spring.

Wintergreen, title of the December prom, added a new feature and tradition to SHS. In addition to a queen there was also a king to reign December 9 in the cafeteria.

Besides the scheduled events, members of the class were well-represented in both athletic and school activities.

Checking the records are junior class advisers, Mrs. Mary Gerkin and Mr. Kenneth Carr.

Soph life was new

The sophomore year begins with a new and strange atmosphere, but this soon wears off as SHS becomes familiar territory, and the class gets into the swing of things. This is a year that also means class officers to elect, clubs to join, and new friends to make.

In the 1961 Variety Show we presented, as the sophomore skit, "A Day in the Life of a Park Bench," an amusing sketch about the daily happenings concerning a park bench.

We cheered the junior varsity football team to a second place in the GLL. Also we boosted the Varsity and the JV basketball teams, and all our classmates on the spring sports teams.

Student Council fosters democracy.

Officers of Sylvania's Student Council are Janet Tindall, secretary; Linda Reed, vice-president; Dick Ritter, president; and Sue Reinhart, treasurer.

Student Council's purpose is to develop and encourage good citizenship and to provide a forum for the expression of student opinion. It acts as a strong link between the faculty and the student body. Council is composed of the officers, three class presidents, six representatives from each class, and one honorary member. Cherry Thompson brought recognition to Sylvania's Council by being elected vice-president of Toledo Area Student Council. Among the various Council projects this year were sponsoring the annual variety show, presenting the Queen of Hearts dance, conducting class elections and school sportsmanship contests, sponsoring Pep Club, working in the summer on handbook and other pre-school preparations, and supporting Eduardo Sanchez, a ten-year-old Filipino boy, through the Foster Parents, Inc. Plan.

National Honor Society

National Honor Society is made up of the outstanding scholars of Sylvania. The highest standards must be met by prospective members, who are selected in the spring by a committee of teachers. The scholars are selected on the basis of character, leadership ability, service to the school, and scholarship. Members must also maintain an average of 3.5 or better. Names of those students eligible for membership are announced at the annual awards assembly. Among the group's outstanding accomplishments were sponsoring the Quiz Bowl, and Scholarship Week, and instituting Honor Hall Passes for those making the honor roll.

I-Questers

I-Questers is an honorary organization whose purpose is to promote scholarship. It is made up of juniors and seniors who are selected for their character, responsibility, and scholarship. The requirements are a 3.2 average and at least two years of math and science. This year Sylvania graduates put on a program to share their college experiences with interested high school students. Highlights of the scholastic club's activities are the Annual Quiz Bowl, Scholarship Week and honor passes. New members are inducted into the club each spring by inspiring candlelight installation.

GAA

Co-Ed Capers, Boyfriend Night, Fun Night, and the annual Spring Banquet are a few of the many activities sponsored by GAA. This sports-minded club is the largest club in the school. Volleyball and basketball intramurals are also on the GAA list of activities for the year. Leaders Club is the honorary organization of GAA which guides all GAA activities. To qualify for membership a girl must earn 900 points. She receives numerals if she earns 1200 points, and at 1600 points she well deserves a trophy. The girls are in charge of the annual Co-Ed Capers in March, and the GAA banquet in May.

Since its beginning four years ago, the club for Sylvania's lettermen has grown in membership and in importance around the school. In its numbers are included Sylvania's best athletes. Nothing looks more impressive at a school function than these boys in their black and gold letter jackets. Varsity "S" activities include assisting the athletic department, promoting sportsmanship and school spirit, and holding weekly fun nights in the gymnasium.

Drama

Drama Club consists of those students taking public speaking or those interested in dramatics and the workings of the theater. Each member has a chance to work on the many phases of a one-act play production, either as an actor, or on such committees as: make-up, properties, costuming, publicity, sound, and tickets. The Drama Club sponsored a one-act play, "What's Wrong With the Girls?" in January. Al Takacs had the job of explaining what he felt was wrong with the feminine members of his listening group. Then Sue Reinhart took equal time to tell what she felt was wrong with the boys. The results were an audience divided in its opinion on the better sex, but united in its enjoyment of the production.

These groups promote Sylvania's

Thespians

Thespians is a national honor society for those students interested in dramatics. Prospective members earn points by taking public speaking, entering speech contests, and taking part in various plays sponsored by the school. Credit is also earned for outside dramatic activities. Drama club members can gain points by volunteering for impromptus during club meetings. A person never knows when he has earned enough points to be a true Thespian, but a word to the wise is, "Don't ask about it!" Students who query Miss Brown on their point status are automatically docked 25 points.

Debate

"Resolved: That the federal government should equalize educational opportunities by means of grants to the states for public, elementary and secondary schools." This statement was argued pro and con by Sylvania's debaters during their season. Under the supervision of Mr. Mansfield the group arose at dawn on Saturdays and traveled to debate tournaments throughout Ohio. As far as the Sylvania debaters were concerned, the contest at Whitmer High School was the best. Not only did their wins outweigh their losses; but, due to the closeness of the neighboring school, they could sleep longer than usual. As further proof of their argumentative abilities they won a television debate over Maumee High School, won a B-division trophy at Springfield South High School, and came in second in five other tournaments.

NFL

The purpose of the National Forensic League is to bestow membership in a national speech honor society. The club now includes eighteen in its membership. To gain admission a prospective member must earn 25 for his degree of merit. The next degree is Honor, worth 75 points, Excellence at 150 points, and Distinction at 250 points. NFL activities include sponsoring the annual debate tournament at Sylvania in February, participating in the Western Ohio NFL District Speech and Debate Tournament, and holding an impressive candlelight initiation ceremony in April for all new members.

To grow as a person; to grow in friendship with people of all races, religion and nationalities, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God is the purpose of Y-Teens. One of the most outstanding events of Y-Teens is their yearly dance held at the YWCA building. Its theme was "Wonderland by Night" and decorated in a Mardi Gras atmosphere. One of the outside activities was a splash party, followed by a pizza snack. The Y-Teen Carnival was held in the fall and Sylvania sponsored a basket toss. All the area schools are invited to Y-Teen Day held on Club 11, WTOL's Dance Party.

DECA

Distributive Education Club of America is new to Sylvania this year. Designed to develop future leaders for marketing and distribution, the club takes many field trips throughout the year.

Distributive Education club members learn to serve as leaders and followers, and have an opportunity for state and national recognition. The chapter is the "show window" for student achievement and progress. It attracts students to the DE program who are interested in marketing and distribution careers, and assists in subject matter presentation. This year they held a Christmas dance with Bob Parkinson of WTOD as disc jockey.

DECA learns to serve customers.

DECA traveled in November to Bowling Green State University to attend the convention of Northwestern Ohio clubs.

The conference included a program, campus tours, and dinner in the Student Union's Grand Ballroom.

A fashion show and a skit on parliamentary procedure were also included on the day's agenda. Students from participating schools dressed in outfits typical of teen-age apparel for various occasions. Those representing Sylvania in the fashion show were seniors, Carol Sturniolo, dressed for a football game, and Kay Holtz, for an after-game dance. At the left are James Cook and Diane Smith attired in the ski outfits with skis and poles.

The needs of the numerous photography enthusiasts around school are met by Sylvania's Camera Club. A typical meeting finds the members listening to one of their own telling about an interesting shot he has taken, or just missed. The club has its own bulletin board which Mr. Abell keeps well-filled with school shots. As of this year the club became a permanent member of Eastmen Kodak's traveling photo salon. Annually, a good portion of the membership enters Kodak's photo contest, hoping to have his picture win nationally and become a part of the traveling salon.

Taking charge of the school's movie projectors is the main responsibility of Projection Club. Members must be fully able to operate every piece of equipment in the Visual-Education Department. Entering in their sophomore year only, the boys must spend long hard hours and countless study halls both showing some thirty-five to forty movies a week, and taking care of the four tape recorders, fourteen movie projectors, four television sets, and four opaque projectors. The large variety and quantity of movies and film strips, which are shown in almost every classroom, are begged, borrowed, but never stolen.

For the first time Sylvania has two vocational industrial clubs, the Carpentry and Electronics Division and the Machine and Auto Division. To qualify for membership a boy must take a shop course, which serves to increase and develop manual skills. The carpentry and electronics section made two drums and a toy cannon to sit beside the mechanical Santa Claus they presented to the school last year. They also held a scrap drive to raise money for a needy family. The machine and auto division held a bake sale to give two orphans a merrier Christmas.

The library staff consisting of twenty-three Sylvania students give up their study hall time in order to help Mrs. Betty Follas, the school librarian. Their chores include cataloging, shelving, repairing, and checking out books and magazines. Students working on reports or term papers for history or Senior Composition find the staff helpful in locating the necessary books and material. They have the endless job of reminding forgetful borrowers that their books are overdue. Many books were left at Burnham when moving to the new high school. Because of this, new reading material has been purchased and future plans include new furniture.

A circulation of 3,000 books and magazines is available to all students. The library is also used as a meeting room for a number of clubs. It is also the scene of English classes display of projects.

The main function of Pen Pals is to give those in other countries a better understanding of life in the United States. People in some nations actually believe every American is either a cowboy or a gangster. The club's letters not only try to build up good penmanship, but they also endeavor to clear up any misunderstanding of the American way of life. From the letters received the club learns a great deal about other lands. There is no limit to the number of pen friends a member can have for they range from one penfriend to nineteen. Pen Pals strive to build lasting international friendships.

Quill and Scroll is the honor society for journalism enthusiasts. It was organized for the purpose of encouraging and rewarding achievement in journalism and allied fields. Any student of the Student Prints and Wyandotte staffs who contributes a sufficient amount of time and material is eligible for membership. Editors and business managers are automatically members. The new members were initiated in the spring by present members, Bette Burow, Janet Tindall, Cherry Thompson, and adviser, Mr. Marlo. They are presented their pins at this initiation, which was financed by sponsoring a dance after the Fostoria football game. Each year the Student Prints staff journeys to Bowling Green State University to enter the paper in the Northern Ohio District Journalism Association High School Newspaper competition. Last year's paper was awarded a superior rating.

Bible Club members devote the main part of their meeting to a study of the Bible. Seriously interested in leading a good life, many Sylvania students gain inspiration in this club. Once a month under the direction of Mr. William Wood, the Sylvania Bible Club brings to students this inspiration through music, testimonies, and talks based on the true Christian life. Speakers are invited to the meetings to talk to the fifty members. The club gave a party during the Christmas holidays for its members. Along with other Bible Clubs, they planned a banquet for all seniors in the Toledo area.

Any junior or senior taking chemistry is invited to join Chemistry Club. Their monthly meetings are both entertaining and informative. Often they have guest speakers, chemical engineers, who explain how they use chemistry in their everyday work. Movies also play an important role in showing students that chemistry is very much a part of their world. One meeting consisted of a spell-down, where members pitted their knowledge of chemical formulas against each other. Field trips to near-by chemical industries are planned to show the members chemistry at work. The students who join Chemistry Club get a great deal more out of their chemistry classes than other students. They are better able to understand chemical phenomena when it is presented through several mediums.

Many students find interest in

Math

Sylvania's Math Club is only as old as Sylvania High School, both beginning their operations in the fall of 1960. The purpose of the club is to promote an interest in higher mathematics. Drawing from those students enrolled in algebra, plane geometry, solid geometry, and trigonometry, the club boasts a membership of twenty. Girls have yet to discover the full potential of this club, since 85 per cent of its members is masculine. This number will undoubtedly grow as interest in the club increases. Committees are selected from among the members to discuss various mathematical theories. Outside speakers also supplement the programs. One of these, Dr. Richard Shoemaker, head of the Toledo University Math Department, told the club about the Set Theory.

Latin Club offers to its members a chance to learn more about the culture of the ancient Romans. Interest in Latin is stimulated through various social activities. At Christmas the club put on a play entitled "Io Saturnalia." At some meetings they play word games using Latin phrases. In March the Roman Banquet is held. This dinner is a tradition dating from the days at Burnham. Members drape themselves in old sheets to simulate togas. Some even wear sandals, dangly jewelry, and wreaths on their heads. As part of the fun, students not taking Latin are asked to act as slaves to carry out the wishes of the honored guests. Many a slave has wished he had taken Latin on banquet night.

Chess club was organized to help stimulate interest in the ancient game of thought.

Should any tournament game not reach completion within the allotted amount of time, the board which is being used is taken to chess experts. They study the situation of the remaining pieces and make a decision as to who would have eventually won.

At the midpoint of their season, Sylvania was number one in the league with a three win and no loss record. Rogers, Libbey, and St. Francis fell to such undefeated members as: Craig Turin, Chuck Hansen, Jim Heubler, Paul Travis, and Sandy Turner.

"The boys spend many long hours both in practice and in tournaments," said Mr. John Wilson, adviser.

Student Prints

Sixteen bi-weekly issues of the Student Prints are published by the Journalism II class. Students extended season's greetings to their friends in the special eight-page Christmas issue. The editor-in-chief oversees the work of the page editors, who lay out the pages, and the members, who paste up copy. Mr. James Caswell and the electronics students print the paper.

A yearbook is a memory book to be kept and looked at in the future. Each year, the Wyandotte Staff strives to publish a different and better yearbook. Second period and Saturdays found the members busily engaged in the tasks of preparing layouts, writing copy, and measuring pictures.

to form the choir of Sylvania High.

Sylvania is proud of its choir which each year brings high honors to the school. It adds beauty to the chapels and other programs during the school year. This year the chorus put on many programs in and out of school, including the annual Christmas concert, the spring concert, a fall concert with Mr. Charles Abdo, and many others for clubs and organizations around the greater Toledo area.

Last spring they recorded an album of their greatest songs. The album, "Sing With Joy," was sold in great numbers to Sylvania's faculty and students.

The Robarian, Kathy Peterson, has a very difficult and unique job. She keeps the choir's robes in numerical order and makes sure everyone gets his own robe.

The state contest, usually held in Columbus, was the most exciting event of the year. The chorus sang three songs during the day-long contest.

At the end of the year the members held a banquet.

Marching season is the band's busiest time of the year. The members presented fine precision drilling to rousing marches for the football fans in the fall. The band officers for this year, elected last spring were: Martin Myers, president; Jeff Bartels, vice-president; and Sandy Reed, secretary.

There are also several appointed offices: Sharon Bemis, librarian; Chuck Schwartz, equipment manager; Mary Jean Webb, uniforms' manager; John Hammill, ensemble librarian; Terry Seagert, point secretary; and Carol Nofen, historian.

to hear "The Sound of Music."

The Sylvania High School Orchestra includes forty musically-inclined students under the direction of Mr. Charles Gorsuch. The orchestra practiced five days a week in preparation for their many public appearances, which included: a Christmas concert with the choir, the annual Band and orchestra concert, Instrumental Varieties, in the spring, and an orchestra assembly. Each year the orchestra attends the State Orchestra Contest, where they compete with other orchestras from Northwestern Ohio for a rating of "I" through "V." The rating is judged on playing ability and musicianship. Last year the orchestra received a rating of "I," or superior, when they journeyed to Oberlin, Ohio, to compete in this contest.

The musical organization is headed by David Kortier, president; Ronnie Lang, vice-president; and Pamela Johns, treasurer.

These officers, with the assistance of Mr. Gorsuch, plan and organize the orchestra's social functions. They also review applications for awards for members based on participation in the orchestra program.

Physical ed supplies an outlet

Under the guidance of Mrs. Helen Papenfus and Mr. Jim Glase, seventy-five per cent of the student body are led in calisthenics and games at least twice a week. With the goal of building a sound body to house a sound mind, gym classes are held continuously through all seven periods.

Bowling and intramurals supply

Bowling at Ottawa Lanes is observed every Wednesday after school by forty Sylvania girls, who are under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Schmidlin.

Each week a fee of ten cents was requested from each girl. These dimes made up funds used to purchase trophies given to bowlers with the highest averages in single games and three game series.

Shoe and ball rental is free to these girls.

Although membership to the American Junior Bowling Congress is optional, most girls join.

Kathy Keller, Suzette Hatzidakis, Carol Van Natta, and Cookie Heinle keep track of score.

recreation after school hours.

Every Tuesday after school from November to April, the members of the Girls' Athletic Association competed in intramural games. Throughout the first semester, volleyball was played; during the second semester, basketball was the game.

For an intramural victory, members received twenty points; for a loss, the losing team gained ten markers. These points gave credit toward winning a letter, a numeral, or a trophy for Leaders club.

At the close of the intramural season, an all-star team from each class was elected by members of the same grade.

comedy hit, "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Friday and Saturday, October 27 and 28, the Senior Class presented "Arsenic and Old Lace," a three-act comedy by Joseph Kesselring.

As the play unfolded, the audience was introduced to the Brewster sisters. These two spinsters have the distinction of having brought about the demise of eleven men, and they are trying for an even dozen. Unknown to them, their nephew Jonathan, also boasts the same record. Complications result when they each try to hide two corpses in the same window seat.

Another nephew, Mortimer, saved the day by protecting his aunts from the unfavorable publicity involving their brother, Teddy, who has built a "Panama Canal" in the basement. Saturday night's show was highlighted by Sylvania alumni and faculty, who portrayed the 12 corpses, at the curtain call.

"Look to the west; that's where the trouble lies, Sir."

"Don't you remember, Abby, the tea things."

Joe and Merleen — a regal-looking couple.

This year's juniors started an innovation at their prom, by having both a king and queen over the evening's festivities. The five king candidates were voted upon by the girls, and the queen candidates were elected by the boys. The entire class voted upon the final selection of king and queen. Early in the morning of December 9, juniors began arriving to begin the job of transforming Sylvania's cafeteria into the magical land of "Wintergreen." The results were most gratifying to the girls who gave up hair appointments, and to the boys who gave up a little extra sleep to help with the decorations. The music was supplied by Paul Comargo and his orchestra. All the juniors agreed that the beauty of the prom was worth the work for its preparation and the cleaning up afterward.

ARE YOU SATISFIED?

Grownups know that personal grooming is important if you want to "get ahead". Teenagers sometimes forget to look at themselves objectively.

So that boys and girls could see themselves as others see them, a full-length mirror was installed in the main corridor of a high school in Buffalo, N. Y.

Boys checked shirttails and trouser lengths—even started wearing coats and ties. Girls stopped to tuck in blouses or rearrange their hair. Renewed pride came to this school—all because of a mirror!

A mirror is a "must" at school . . . at home . . . anywhere. Always check your appearance before going out. It's a good habit to form and others will notice.

When you buy a mirror, be sure it's made of L·O·F Parallel-O-Plate® glass, twin-ground for truer reflections and more freedom from distortion. You'll find a wide selection at your furniture, glass or department store.
